Sponsor a Participant Information

Overview:

Balanced Beings Outdoor Recreation offers the opportunity to sponsor a participant for camp, day or after school program, veteran, first responder or a one on one session, ensuring they have an enriching experience. Note where you would like your donation to go and BBOR will guarantee it will go towards assisting the demographic of your choice. Every penny counts, and your support helps create lasting memories that contribute to personal growth and overall well-being for people in the local Phoenix community.

Purpose Summary:

Some of the most meaningful things we can do are the ones that quietly change someone else's day, week, or life. Sponsoring a participant at Balanced Beings Outdoor Recreation is an opportunity to extend the gift of a high-quality, therapeutic outdoor experience to a child, veteran, first responder, or individual in the Phoenix community who may not otherwise have access to it — and research consistently shows that the act of giving generously benefits the giver just as deeply as it does the recipient.

Through the Sponsor a Participant program, donors may direct their contribution toward a program or demographic of their choosing — whether that is a Kids Day Camp session, a Farm Helpers program, a private lesson, or a session supporting active military, veterans, or first responders. Every sponsorship, beginning at $50, covers one full session for one participant and goes entirely toward creating a meaningful, personalized experience that supports their confidence, well-being, and personal growth. Every penny is accounted for, and every contribution matters.

It is important to note that Balanced Beings Outdoor Recreation is not a nonprofit organization, and sponsorships are not tax-deductible in the same way a nonprofit donation would be. However, what a sponsorship does provide is something equally valuable — the knowledge that a real person in your community attended a real session because of your generosity. Where privacy allows and with the participant's consent, BBOR will share that a sponsored session was attended, honoring both the donor's compassion and the participant's right to privacy.

Whether your contribution is made publicly or quietly, recognized or anonymous — it says something meaningful about the kind of person you are and the kind of community we can build together. At Balanced Beings Outdoor Recreation, giving and receiving are equally honored, and every act of support, no matter the size, moves us closer to a community where enriching, therapeutic outdoor experiences are accessible to all.
